

EMPLOYMENT, EMPOWERMENT, ENRICHMENT

Human Resource Development and Canada's Off-Reserve Aboriginal Community

at Alliance Autochtone au Québec Inc. Ontario of Aboriginal Peoples Aboriginal Affairs Coaliskatchewan United Native Nations Métis Naation of New Native Council Edward Island of Nova Scotia swick Aboriginal Council Alliance Au-u Québec Inc. n of Aboriginal aboriginal Affairs Coalition of Saskatchewan
tive Nations Métis Nation Federation of New-Indians Native Council of Prince Edward i C N S N D

Expanding opportunity & employment

In partnership with the Government of Canada, the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples (CAP) is an active player in the delivery of the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy (AHRDS).

The goal of this strategy is to develop, nurture and expand employment opportunities for Aboriginal peoples across Canada. CAP's involvement in the strategy enables the design and delivery of employment programs and services best suited to meet the unique and diverse needs of the off-reserve Aboriginal community.

The aim of the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy is to assist Aboriginal peoples to prepare for, find, and keep jobs. Programs and services available under the strategy are open to all Aboriginal peoples, regardless of status or location.

CAP currently has nine Aboriginal Human Resources Development Agreements (AHRDAs) in place across Canada through its network of provincial affiliates. We strive to ensure that the program's accountability requirements are respected, and we are committed to demonstrating ongoing performance results.

The Congress is also a key player in and a member of the Aboriginal Human Resource Council. Working with us, the Council helps to build a broad network with the private sector and other levels of government in addressing the human resource challenges facing Canada's Aboriginal peoples.

Federal labour market development – a work in progress

The Government of Canada has made it known that major changes in program design and delivery will likely occur by 2010. CAP is at the forefront of this initiative, working with the federal government to ensure that its advice and recommendations on the next generation of labour market development initiatives are heard.

The Congress of Aboriginal Peoples has been consulting with its provincial affiliates around key aspirations and issues relating to the future of such programs and the services that will flow from them. At the heart of the matter are four key attributes CAP believes should be fundamental to Aboriginal human resource development.

REALISTIC ensuring that any new programs address the real and distinct issues faced by Aboriginal peoples living off-reserve;

INCLUSIVE representative of, and open to all Aboriginal constituencies, regardless of status or residency;

ACCOUNTABLE effectively administered in a fair, equitable and transparent manner;

REPRESENTATIVE managed and delivered by Aboriginal organizations

() encouraging and assisting youth to stay in school or consider post-secondary education;

() ensuring the youthful Aboriginal population can overcome challenges making the () transition from school to the work environment;

() overcoming marginalization in poor, low-paying jobs and ending under-employment;

CAP's available program elements include:

Labour market interventions;

Programs for youth, urban and Aboriginal persons living with disabilities;

Moving forward together

The Congress of Aboriginal Peoples and its affiliates want to ensure that its voice is heard and its recommendations are considered in the re-design and re-engineering of federal labour market development programs.

Our National Paper will provide insights from the off-reserve perspective. We want and need your involvement.

You can get involved by contacting your province's CAP affiliate. You can also offer your suggestions, ideas and concerns to CAP's National Office, through the links on the CAP website.

<http://www.abo-peoples.org/>

() enhancing literacy and other essential skills for entering the workforce;

() helping the many single parents and those needing access to childcare to take advantage of employment opportunities;

() Identifying creative and effective ways of blending programs that include entrepreneurship, economic development, mentorship and apprentice programs with labour market development initiatives

Contact us:

National Office Congress of Aboriginal Peoples www.abo-peoples.org

AHRDA Partners

Labrador Métis Nation
www.labradormetis.ca

Federation of Newfoundland Indians www.fni.nf.ca

Native Council of Prince Edward Island
www.ncpei.com

News Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council
www.nbapc.org

Native Alliance of Quebec
info@aaqnaq.com

Ontario Coalition of Aboriginal People
www.o-cap.ca

Aboriginal Affairs Coalition of Saskatchewan

Aboriginalaffairscoalitionofsask@yahoo.ca

United Native Nations Society
www.unns.bc.ca

Alliance Autochtone du Québec Inc. Ontario Coalition of Aboriginal Peoples Aboriginal Affairs Coalition of Saskatchewan United Native Nations Métis Nation Federation of Newfoundland Indians Native Council of Prince Edward Island Native Council of Nova Scotia New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council Alliance Autochtone du Québec Inc.
Ontario Coalition of Aboriginal Peoples Aboriginal Affairs
Coalition of Saskatchewan
United Native Nations Mé-

“Better education and training are the means to overcome dependency. They are the gateway to economic opportunity and the best means of staking your claim on prosperity;”

CAP National Chief Patrick Brazeau